Movianto moves your business

Movianto moves your pharmaceutical and healthcare business. Our experienced European team ensures that your outsourced products are managed with the utmost care – whatever they are and wherever they are going.

We know that each of your products is different and has its own specific handling requirements. Our wholly owned logistics network therefore offers you a wide range of tailor-made services, including warehousing, transportation, cold chain logistics, repackaging and relabelling.

As part of Celesio, a leading pharmaceutical distribution company in Europe with revenues of €23 billion, Movianto is striving to become the preferred logistics partner for the pharmaceutical, biotechnology and healthcare industry by designing supply chain solutions that anticipate and meet the challenges faced by the industry, now and in the future.

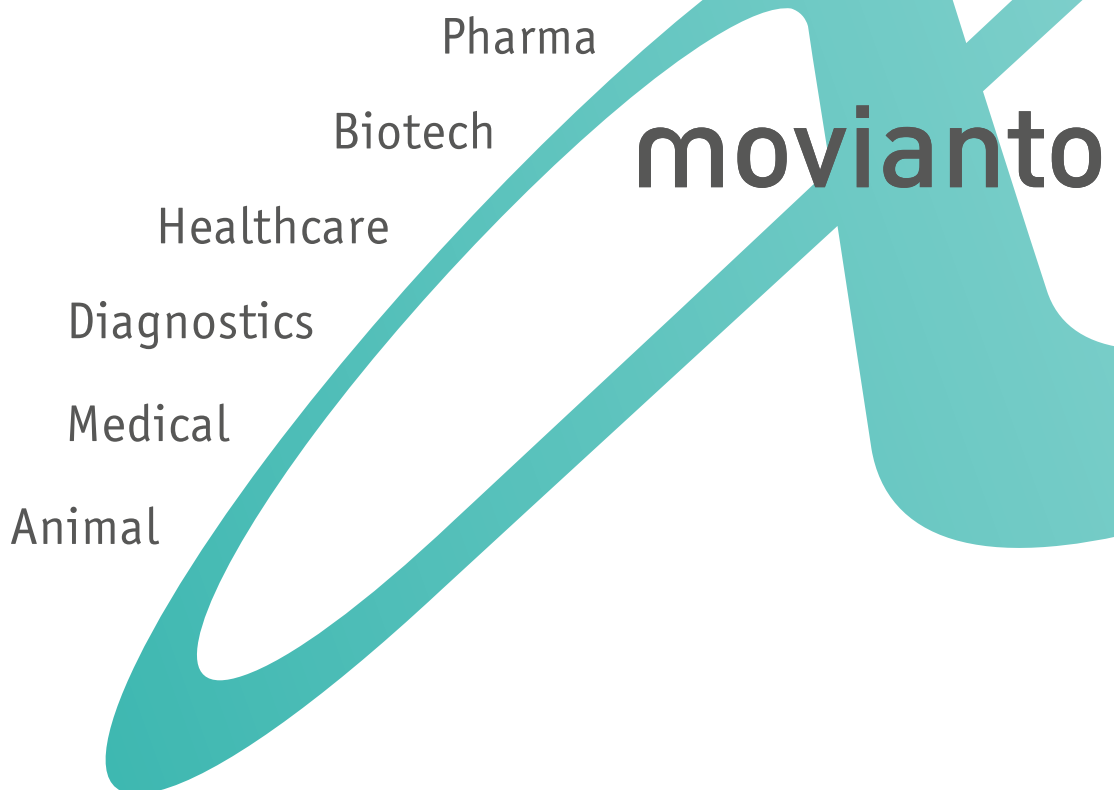

Trust Movianto to care for your business needs and discover how we move your products ...

As experienced professionals specialised in the pharmaceutical and healthcare industry, we are aware of the challenges you face in the market. Eliminating counterfeit products is essential to your customers' safety, making complete control of the supply chain indispensable.

Your challenges

Transparency throughout the supply chain and real-time product tracing and information are essential. With Movianto, you have a partner at your side that upholds the integrity of the supply chain and shares the ethics of the pharmaceutical and healthcare industry.

Let us lend you a helping hand by streamlining the way you deliver your products as well as managing your logistics.

Our commitment

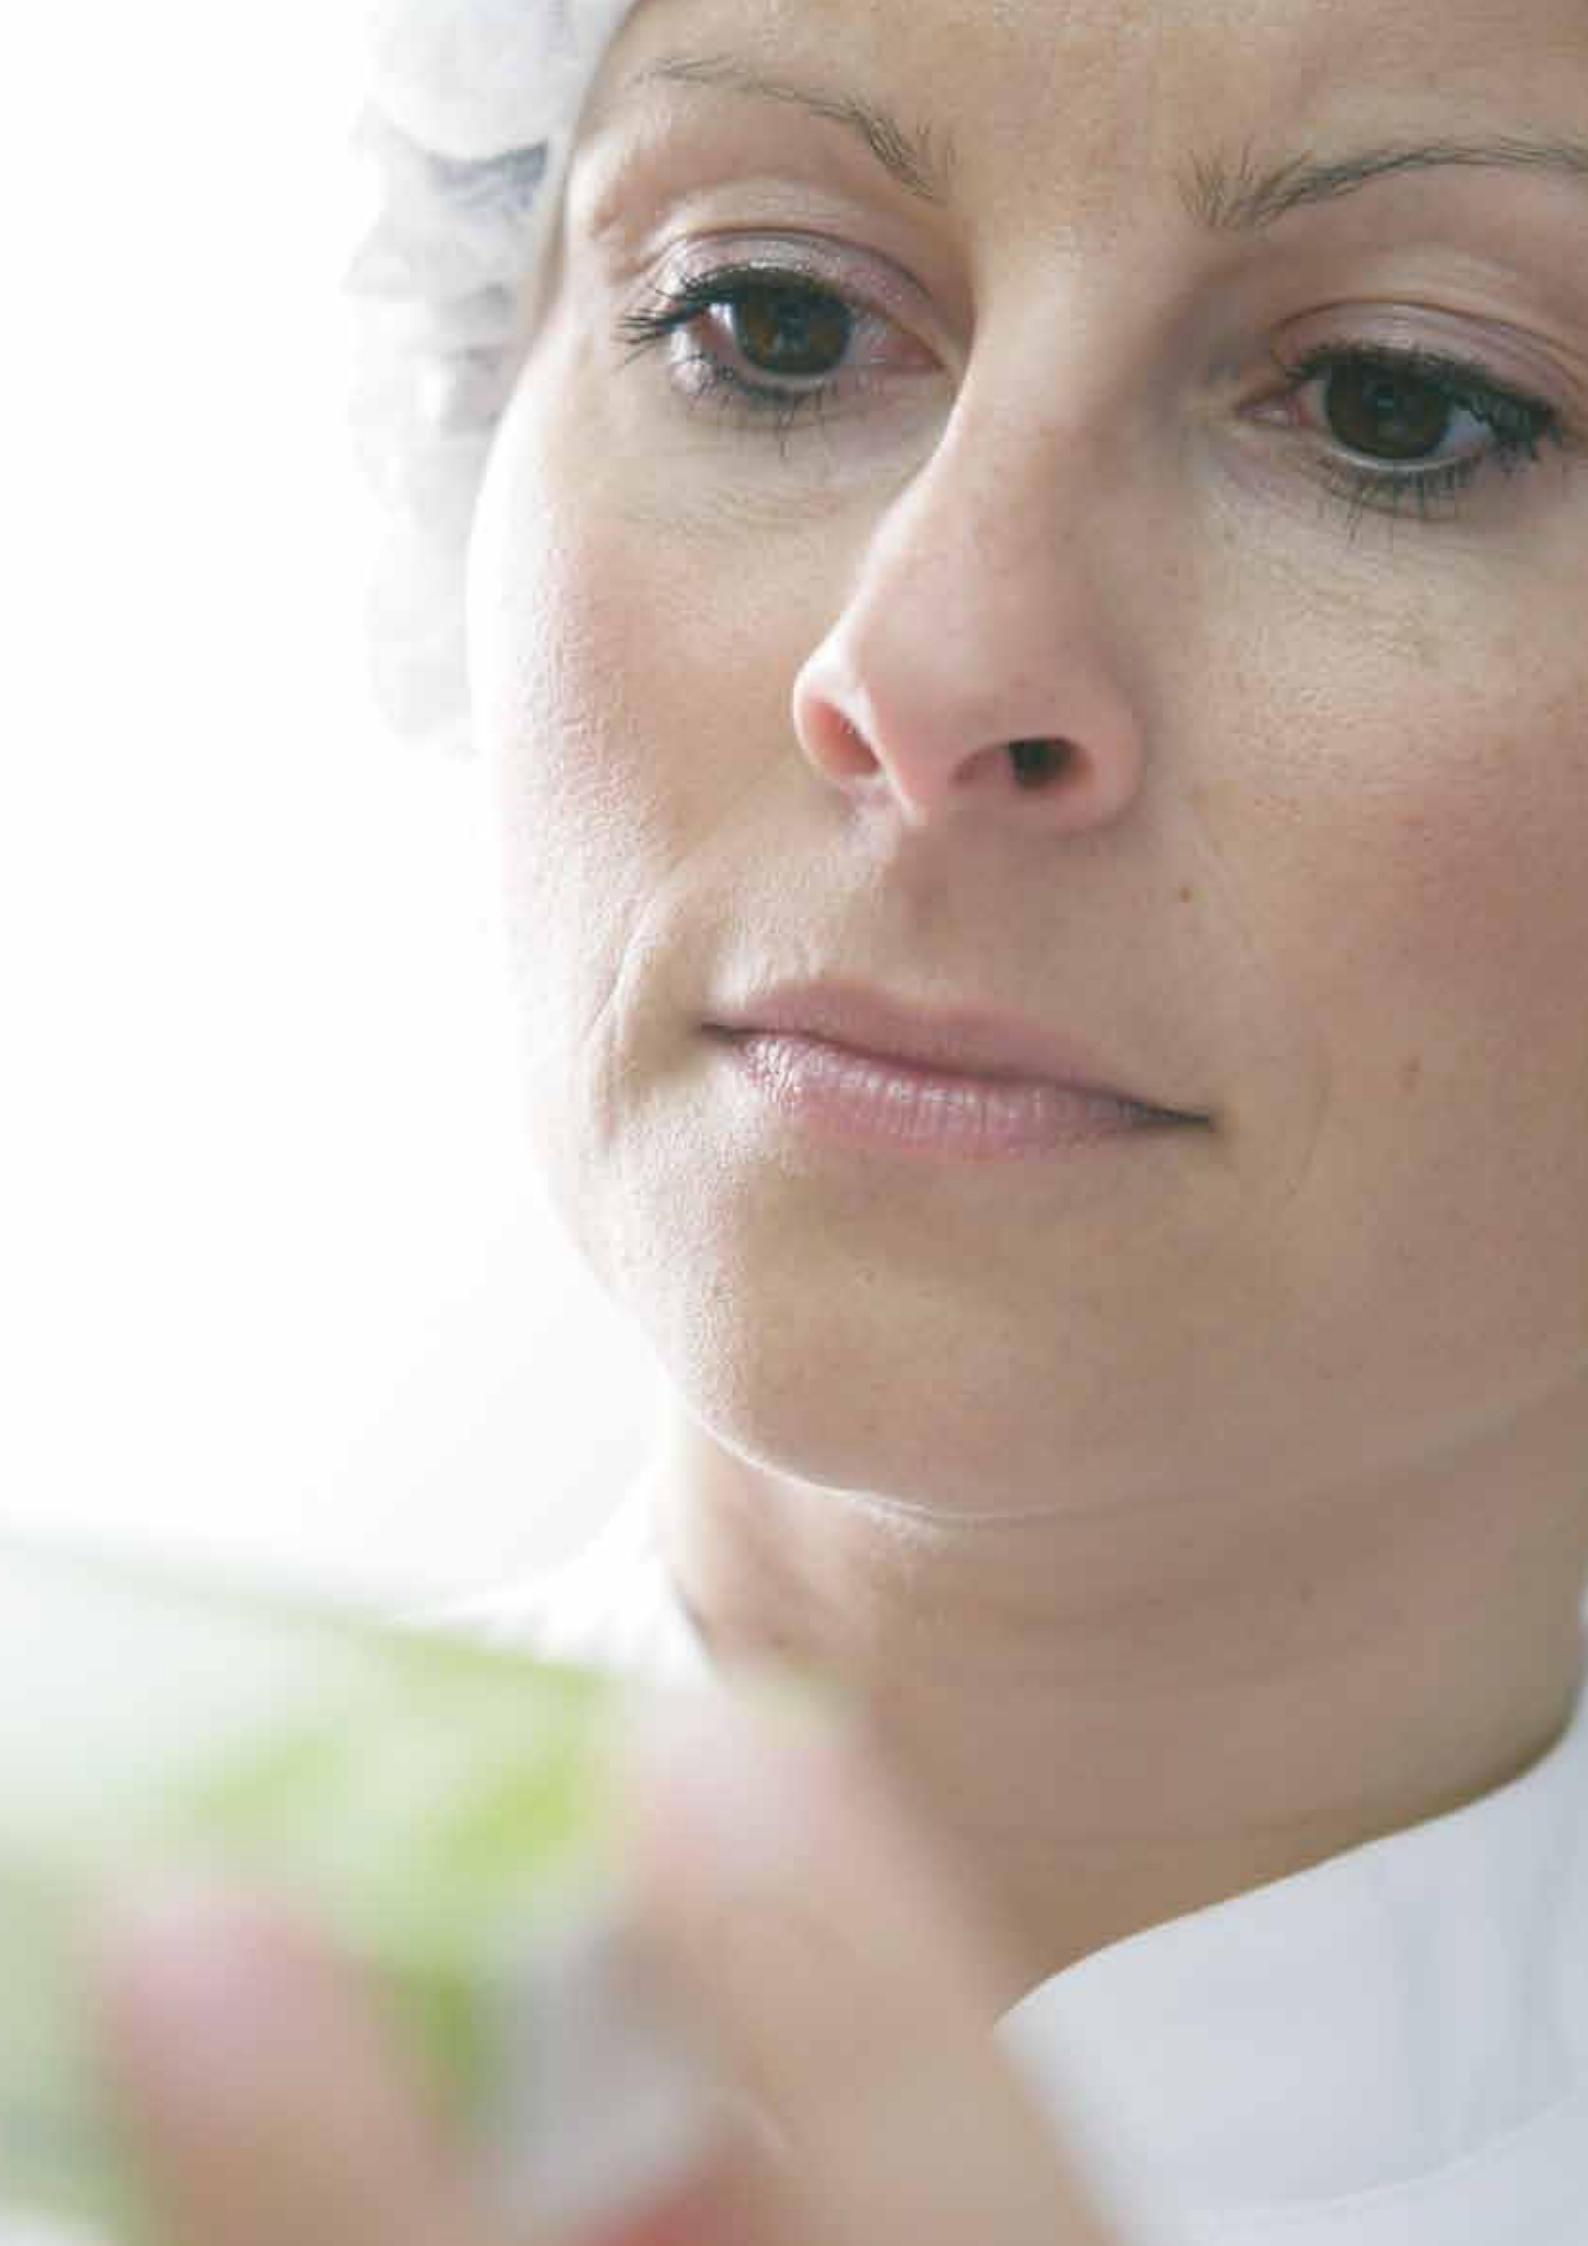

- Wholly owned subsidiaries
- Centralised IT solution
- EQMS (European Quality Management System)
- ISO certification
- Effective implementation

Unlike many of our competitors, our wholly owned subsidiaries focus exclusively on the healthcare industry.

We completely understand the needs of your business and ensure the highest degree of service and quality throughout Europe. Procedures are carried out with the greatest of care and precision, solutions are customised to your specific needs, and implementation is flexible and time-efficient.

We foresee the challenges you may encounter in your business and invest in innovative solutions to master them, continuously optimising our service. Our centralised European IT system, Movianto Prince, ensures control and transparency throughout the supply chain. At the touch of a button, you can access your information in real-time.

Movianto's comprehensive business solution is your guarantee of quality, service and swift implementation for your business. You have one contact who caters for your needs throughout Europe immediately – our experts are always just a phone call away.

Streamlined distribution

At Movianto, we have a carefully crafted range of distribution solutions to manage your products. Regardless of the nature of your product or range, Movianto creates a way to distribute them optimally.

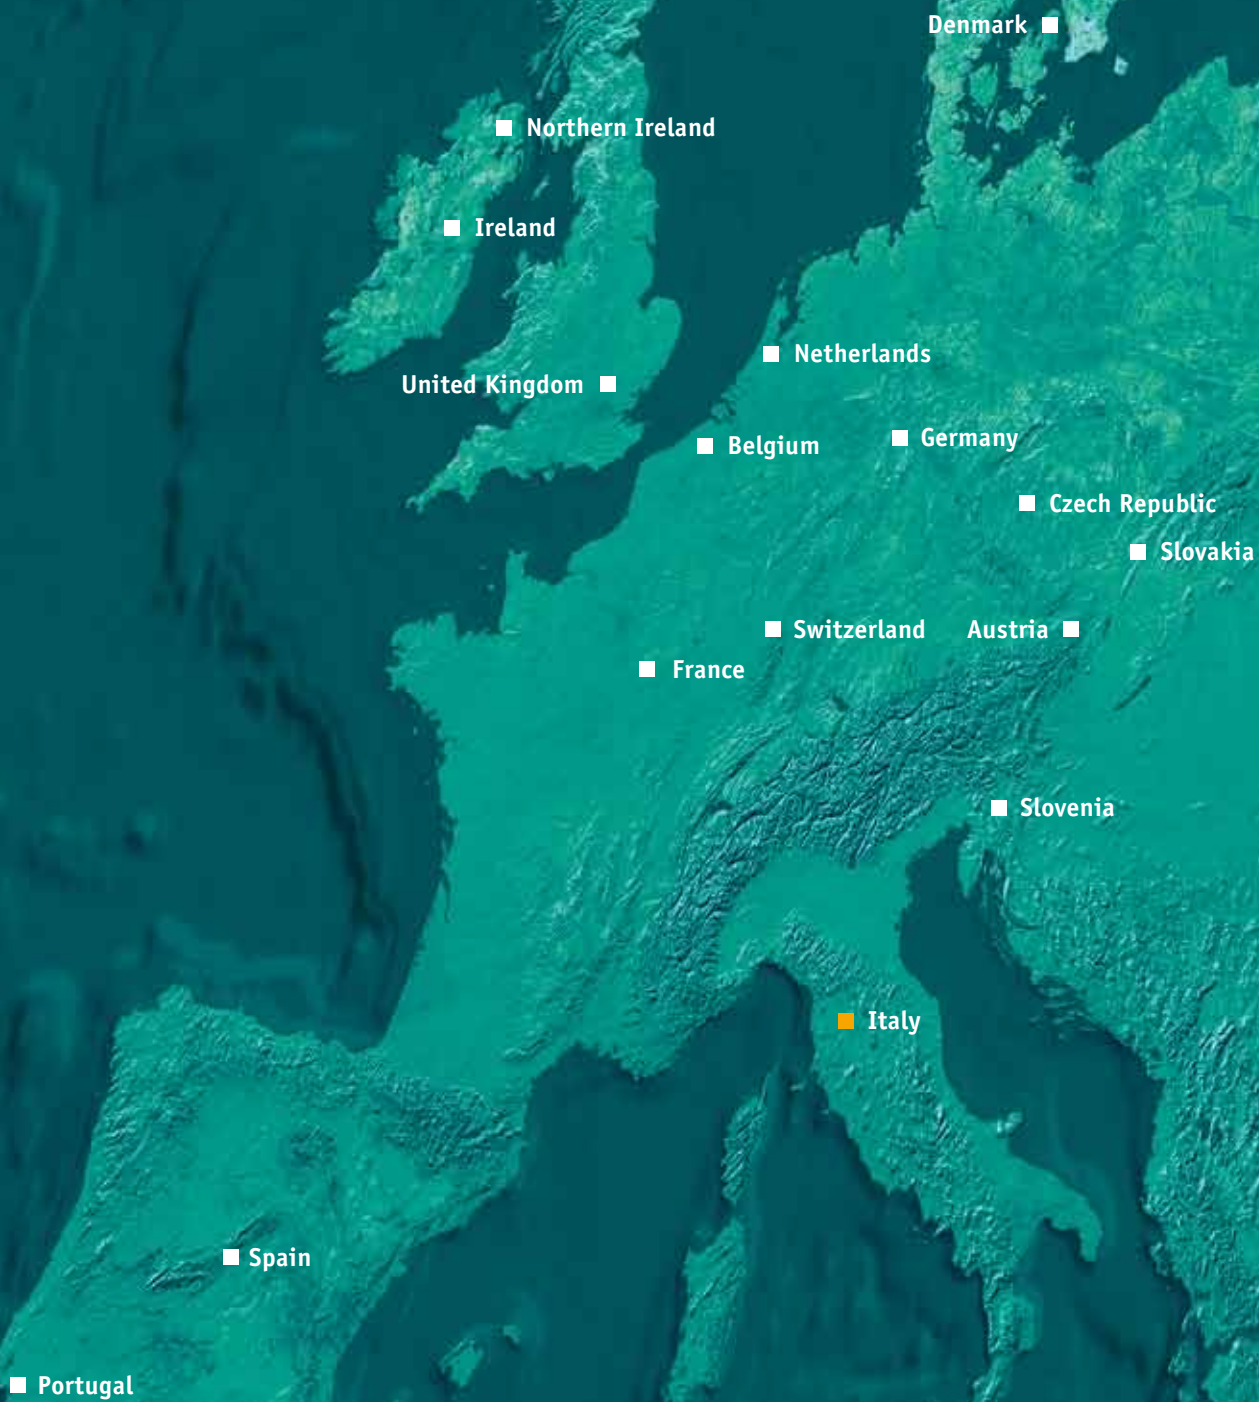

Movianto can coordinate all activities to supply your national or regional markets through a central European distribution centre or via local warehouses, as appropriate.

We have a storage capacity of more than 250,000 pallets across Europe, ensuring optimum conditions and processes that comply fully with GMP/GDP regulations.

With our expertise and background in the pharmaceutical and healthcare market and beyond, we are in an ideal position to deliver streamlined distribution solutions for your products and customers.

Individual product solutions

Movianto offers the best and most convenient solutions for your pharmaceutical and healthcare products, providing standard and specialist services to meet any product requirements at local, national and European level.

The Movianto team can customise your products in a number of ways – for instance, repackaging or relabelling according to the requirements of the destination countries. Our kitting services include assembling of different components for finished products.

As a specialist logistics service provider, Movianto also handles clinical trials and samples. The products are stored under the required conditions, whether being it ambient, controlled or cold chain. If desired, Movianto can pack and label the products before they are delivered to the recipient.

Furthermore, Movianto stores and manages promotional materials, which are separated from the goods for sale. According to the client's needs, the promotional material is packed and delivered to sales representatives or pharmacies.
